Bullrock Corporation Completes the Construction of SANA at Stowe, a Premier Addiction Treatment Center Located in Stowe, Vermont

Shelburne, VT-Bullrock Corporation announced today that construction of SANA at Stowe, a premier addiction treatment center located at 3430 Mountain Road in Stowe, Vermont, has been completed. In addition to the construction, Bullrock Corporation is the developer and one of the owners of SANA at Stowe.

SANA is located on a 4-acre site and construction included a re-furbishing of the North American Hockey Academy building. The design for SANA was done by Freeman French and Freeman out of Burlington, Vermont. Wagner Hodgson Landscape Architecture also located in Burlington, Vermont designed and installed the landscaping. SANA is an addiction treatment center scheduled to ultimately offer 32-beds and provide evidence-based, comprehensive, individualized, coordinated and medical care for patients as they begin their recovery from addiction. SANA will also be offering two levels of care, which are medically supervised withdrawal management, as well as residential treatment.

Bullrock Corporation, its owners and affiliates have been in the construction, construction management, real estate development, senior living and more recently the solar energy business since the early 1980's. Based in Shelburne, VT, Bullrock Corporation strives to develop businesses, real estate and infrastructure that supports and benefits future generations of Vermonters.
